Special Session proposal

A Special Session has one or more of the following characteristics from the conference portfolio:

- on emerging or cutting edge topics
- advanced topics
- new topics (but in the Applepies theme)

If the program committee accepts a session proposal, it becomes part of the conference program and the call for papers. The proposers will later lead this Session as session chairs. Anyone is free to submit a paper to a Special Session. These papers will also be submitted for review according to the principles of the conference and under the supervision of the Session Chairs. Those proposing a session may also submit regular papers.

Daedline for the submission of proposals for Special Sessions is May 12th 2023.

Time slot: 90min

Proposer/Session Chair: Young Researchers are encouraged to participate as Session Chairs or participants

Type of submission to Special Session: Regular paper (see CFP)

Review of paper submission: Like a regular conference submission (even proposers can submit)
